C. H. PERRY, CITY CLERK, PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY; WAS TALENTED MUSICIAN

News of the passing out of City Clerk Charles Hall Perry came as a shock to the entire city on Thursday. Most of the people did not even know he was ill, and few of those who did had any idea of the seriousness of his condition. The end was due to uremic poisoning and came in Los Angeles where Mr. Perry had gone on Sunday to take treatment.

Mr. Perry had been a resident of Sierra Madre nearly ten years, coming here in search of health for his late wife who passed away a few years since. He is survived by their son, Hall, and by Miss Grace Durland, cousin of Mrs. Perry who has been in charge of the little household since the last years of Mrs. Perry's illness.

Mr. Perry was the son of a Congregational minister. His father, who passed away last summer, had been pastor emeritus of the church at Western Springs, a suburb of Chicago, for thirty years.

Attends Michigan University

After completing his public school courses, Mr. Perry went to Hillsdale College and later to the University of Michigan. On leaving college he returned to Chicago where he resided until coming to Sierra Madre.

In Chicago Mr. Perry served several terms as justice of the peace, the amount of business in those courts being large.

Hanna's Lieutenant

In the McKinley campaign of 1896 Mr. Perry was placed in charge of the commercial bureau of the Republican national committee. His department kept the committee heads informed of conditions prevailing all over the country through an army of travelling salesmen who had been organized for the purpose. Mark Hanna paid high tribute to the work of the bureau, saying it gave him his most reliable information as to the progress of the campaign.

On coming to Sierra Madre Mr. Perry was employed as accountant for the water company. Later he was made secretary. He was later appointed city clerk, and was several times reelected to that office. He was also city recorder.

Talented Musician

As a musician Mr. Perry was a talented performer. In his younger days he had been one of the best lyric tenors in Chicago, singing in the best male organizations there. In later years he had devoted himself almost entirely to the pipe organ and had served as organist of the Church of the Ascension for several years. He had also composed several anthems and organ numbers which have been published by well known houses.

In college Mr. Perry belonged to the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. But the organization in which he found the greatest pleasure was the American Guild of Organists. The chapter meetings in Los Angeles were for him occasions of great enjoyment.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon from the Church of the Ascension, the services being in charge of the rector, Rev. Dr. George H. Cornell. Pall bearers will probably be representatives of the Guild of Organists.

GENERAL VILJOEN ANSWERS "TAPS"

Famous Boer Commander Passes Over at New Mexico Ranch

General Benjamin J. Viljoen, one of the famous Boer commanders of the South African war, passed away on Sunday at his home near La Mesa, New Mexico, from pneumonia. The news brought sorrow to many friends in Sierra Madre who had learned to love and admire him during his years of residence here.

General Viljoen was a member of the Boer Parliament at one time. He was a cavalry commander in the Boer army and at the close of the war was banished from his native land by the British.

Most of his life since that time had been spent in the United States. He was a man of great ability in other lines than military, and was engaged at times in various large business enterprises.

General Viljoen is survived by his wife and son who is with Gen. Pershing in Mexico. He also leaves two brothers atakersfield.

BEN HUR LECTURE

For the benefit of the Alpha Nu Class of the Congregational Church, Dr. James McLaren will deliver his famous "Ben Hur" lecture at the Woman's Club House, February the eighth. A small admission fee will be charged and it is hoped a large number will take this opportunity of hearing Dr. McLaren. Those who have heard him before will be delighted with this lecture and should not let this excellent chance go by.

WRIGHT LANDS HOUSE PLUM

ASSEMBLYMAN AGAIN AT HEAD OF WAYS AND MEANS COM.

Assemblyman Henry W. Wright of the 69th district is again chairman of the ways and means committee of the lower house of the legislature. While there never seemed any real doubt that he would be given the place which he held last session, there had been some talk of a change.

This is the most important committee chairmanship in the house. All the appropriation bills for the state's enormous business pass through its hands and the chairman is in a powerful position in the legislature.

STAMPED ENVELOPE SUPPLY CURTAILED

Government Contractor Unable To Keep Up With Demand Of Country

Owing to the fact that the factory having the contract for government stamped envelopes is behind in its work, the printing of what are known as "office request" envelopes has been discontinued temporarily. Envelopes with private return cards can be furnished individuals and business houses as before. There is sometimes a slight delay in securing them, but not more than an additional week.

The "office request" envelopes are those which are ordinarily sold at the post office in small quantities, having a printed return card with blank line for filling in name of sender. The local post office has an ample stock in some sizes but one or two of the sizes most commonly used are out of stock and cannot at present be secured for the reason given. There is, however, a plentiful supply of blank or plain stamped envelopes in all sizes.

E. H. LANPHEAR CALLED

E. H. Lanphear, formerly a resident of West Live Oak Avenue, passed away Wednesday at his home in Pasadena. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Ives & Warren parlors in Pasadena.

DATE CHANGED FOR ELECTION

FLOOD CONTROL BOND IS- SUE TO BE VOTED ON FEB. 20.

To avoid conflict with the Los Angeles city elections to be held about the same time the date for the county election of flood control bonds has been changed from Feb. 2 and will probably be February 20.

In view of the importance of this bond issue of $4,500,000, with the proceeds of which it is proposed to harness the flood waters of the county, the Supervisors desire that it shall come before the voters not confused with the issues of another election.

Chairman Hamilton said it was desired to obtain a fair expression of the voters on the question of flood control bonds. "We feel that the joining of several issues and the consolidation of city and county elections would tend to confuse the voter," he said.

SNOW COVERS THE MOUNTAINS

Beautiful White Mantle Is Source of Joy To All Beholders

One of the finest coatings of snow which has decked the mountains fell this week. And the day after the sky was clear and the sunshine made it a sight for gods and men, not to mention poets and other things.

There followed a clear evening that threatened a night cold enough to do much damage to fruit. But fortunately, clouds and rain followed before morning and the danger was over. The fruit men were on the anxious seat all week until Thursday.

MEETING OF W. C. T. U.

A called meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lewis in the Canyon. The president Mrs. Conklin was authorized to go before the council as the representative of the auxiliary to remonstrate against the issuance of a table license in Sierra Madre.

TABLE LICENSE PROPOSAL STIRS STORM OF PROTEST; ELECTION MAY BE HELD

After two years or more devoted to efforts to bring about peace and harmony in Sierra Madre, whatever P. and H. has been developed seems about to be exploded over the hotel table license proposition.

Doubtless the advocates of the license plan expected opposition. But doubtless they did not expect opposition so vigorous and thorough as is promised.

The Sierra Madre Inn may get the license for which application has been made. But it will be a long wait. That the tourist season will be a thing of the past seems a reasonable prophecy.

Pro and Con

The license question has been one of the chief topics of conversation during the past week, with both sides expressing themselves vigorously. Leading support for the license application comes from those who urge it as a necessary adjunct of a successful tourist hotel. They say we have been trying to get a hotel in Sierra Madre for years, and now the women who have shown enterprise enough to re-open the Inn should be given every measure of support possible.

They further look upon the measure as one designed to encourage a larger and modern hotel enterprise. Claiming that no such hotel could possibly be successful without a license, they say no hotel man would consider Sierra Madre as a location unless assured that he could obtain a license.

Granting of the license is favored by many who want a place in Sierra Madre where they can buy a drink with a meal—or a meal with a drink. They object to having to go to Pasadena or Los Angeles when they want to entertain themselves or friends in that way, and regard the license plan simply as a convenience to themselves.

Of course the license plan has the support of the element who are simply "liberal" on general principles.

Might Bring Competition

Still others see in the proposed license ordinance a chance to do something for themselves in a business way. The trustees being unable to restrict the license to create monopoly, the possibility of opening up the old Shirley hotel seems to appeal to them. While the building has not the 25 rooms required under the proposed ordinance, that could be easily remedied. So it seems entirely probable that there would be competition in the hotel business with license in force.

Preparing for Fight

No sooner had news of the long-promised license application been passed around than the opposition began to plan their fight. The table license was at once denounced as a worse and more insidious form of liquor selling than an open saloon. It was pointed out that people who would not be seen entering a saloon would make use of the table license opportunity freely and with every mark of respectability, the danger being especially applicable to young people. Minors cannot be admitted to saloons. But it is urged that the table license affords a public drinking place where they are admitted without question.

License opponents refuse to have the arguments confined to the Sierra Madre Inn, claiming that the success or failure of one private enterprise is one of the smallest questions involved. The principle involved is the big thing, and they propose to fight to the end any effort to "open up" the town. They regard it as a certainty that other licenses would follow.

Excluded From Consideration

That the present question has no bearing on the ultimate building of a hotel is the contention of the anti-license people. No such enterprise is in contemplation now and they refuse to cross the bridge before they come to it.

Plan of Fight

Remembering the substantial majority given both prohibition amendments in Sierra Madre last November, the anti is confident of their ability to beat the proposition if the license application is pressed. They propose first to present the remonstrance against the passage of the ordinance making table licenses legal. To that end a mass meeting has been called for the Woman's Club House this evening. The call is published over a list of names sufficiently representative to indicate the scope of the opposition.

If, in the face of the remonstrance which they will present, the passage of the license ordinance is passed, the opposition declare they will start referendum proceedings. No license could be granted under the ordinance for 30 days after its passage.

Referendum proceedings would suspend it pending the election, which would mean a delay of five or six weeks more. By the time all these proceedings are carried out it will be the middle or last of April before the election verdict is rendered.

Having had the fight forced upon them, the drys say they will make it thorough. If they are compelled to circulate a referendum petition on the license ordinance they declare it will be just as easy at the same time to carry an initiative petition to abolish all liquor licenses in Sierra Madre. Confidence bolstered up by the prohibition vote last fall, they declare they will spare no effort to make Sierra Madre completely dry.

All in all, prospects are good for a lively meeting of the board of trustees next Thursday evening. It is likely seats will be at a premium.

SPRING WEATHER INSPIRES POETS

News Receives Deluge of Verse During the Past Week

Some inspiration seems to have hit the amateur and volunteer poets all at once this week, judging by the torrent of poeticals that have been lavished upon the News. With some the snow on the mountains and with others the Sunday sunshine seems to have been the source.

The News would like to publish them all, but to avoid jealousy and heartburning it will have to be omitted.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Church of the Ascension, the Rev. Dr. Geo. H. Cornell, rector. Vested Choir. Third Sunday after Epiphany. Holy Communion 7:30 A. M. Sunday School 9:45 A. M. Morning Prayer and sermon, 11 A. M. All are cordially invited.

MASS MEETING

All men and women of Sierra Madre who are opposed to the granting of any further liquor licenses in the city are urged to attend a mass meeting at the

Woman's Club House
Friday, January 19th
At 8 P. M.

The undersigned most cordially request that there be a full attendance of all who believe in protection for the homes and the young people of Sierra Madre.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McClanahan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stines and little son Otta of Los Angeles, and Mr. Lucke of San Francisco spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Feigate.

Mr. S. S. Casad received the sad news of the death of his only sister at the age of ninety-three, two years older than himself. She visited Sierra Madre two or three years ago, and from here went to Globe, Arizona where she passed away the fourteenth of this month.

The associated chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley will be the guests of the Sierra Madre Board of Trade, Tuesday, February 6. A dinner will be served by the Woman's Club at the Club House. Tickets for this dinner will be on sale within a few days.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. F. P. Sperry entertained with a delightful luncheon and bridge party complimentary to her house guest Mrs. E. B. Wilson. Pink roses and ferns were used effectively in the decorations. The guests included Mrs. W. J. Lawless, Mrs. E. C. Carhart, Mrs. F. J. Hart, the Misses Jean and Hazel Woodward and Miss Weaver.

The lecture on Burns, Monday night when Dr. McLaren will present in his most interesting way, the life and incidents of Burns will be delivered in the costume of the Highlander. Dr. McLaren has made an extensive study of the life of Burns, visiting and staying at the birthplace of the Scotch poet, to familiarize himself with its surroundings.

Mrs. H. T. Fennel, chairman of Books of the Woman's Club is responsible for the arrangement of the program with Mrs. Flather to provide the music. Scotch Songs, some familiar and some more unknown will be sung by Mrs. LeVeaux and Mrs. J. N. Hawks. The program begins promptly at eight o'clock and the community is invited to avail itself of a splendid evening's entertainment which the Woman's Club offers free to Sierra Madre's public.

On Wednesday evening the cast of "Facing the Music" was entertained at dinner at the Sierra Madre Inn. Yellow Accacia and smilax were used for the table decorations and clever place cards with appropriate rhymes for each one were the work of Mrs. James Hawks and Miss Edith Blumer. Later in the evening others came in and a short program and dancing was enjoyed.

PATRONESSES FOR RED CROSS DANCE

Many Ladies Will Aid in Making Event A Big Success

The Silver Cup Benefit Dance of the American Red Cross Chapter which takes place next Friday evening at the Woman's Club House is the first of the New Year dances.

This event has been more than the ordinary claim on the members and friends of the Red Cross in Sierra Madre, in that it will celebrate the winning of the Silver Cup by the local chapter in competition with all other Red Cross Chapters in the United States. It is itself therefore a cause of great jubilation mingled with the regular festivities of a usual Red Cross dance. No pains will be spared to make this one of the gala nights in Sierra Madre.

The following is a list of the patronesses for the evening: Mmes. Goodfellow, Krebs, Lettau, Kinney, Saunders, F. J. Hart, Tarr, Ingraham, J. D. Mackerras, W. Collins, Seeley, Hoffman, Cornell, F. Wright, Fagge, the Misses A. H. Binford, T. H. Graham, Lydia Webster and Mabel Murray.

The decoration will be made by the Misses Gladys and Elsa Krafft.

Tickets are in charge of Frank 75. Following are the scores: Hartman's Drug Store. Sander's Drug Store and Welshe's.

Refreshments will be served during the intermission and the punch table in charge of Miss Mildred Powell will dispense refreshing drink during the dance.

WOMAN'S CLUB

On the afternoon of Wednesday, January 24th, Mrs. L. R. Thompson, assisted by the mothers of the boys of the S. F. G. Club will give a social tea, at her home on North Canyon Ave. A short but excellent program is promised and Mrs. Palmer Rhodes has consented to repeat her original song on "Goot Roads," given at the recent Xmas High Jinks of the Woman's Club.

Light refreshments will be served, and a silver offering is requested, the same to be turned over to the treasurer of the S. F. G. Club, to help in the expenses of their mountain cabin.

A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies interested in this most important branch of the church work "Our Boys" to come and bring their fancy work and enjoy a pleasant and profitable afternoon.

The Dickens Fellowship will meet with Mrs. C. C. Montgomery next Wednesday, January 24th.

Miss Helen Williams spent last week end with the Windhams at Long Beach.

CALIFORNIA LEADS ON ROAD ALLOTMENT

National Forest Highway Fund to be Distributed to States

Secretary Houston has announced the amount allotted to each state from the million dollars to be spent during the fiscal year 1918 in constructing roads and trails within or partly within the national forests. This money is part of the ten million dollars appropriated by the Federal Aid Road Act to assist development of the national forests, which becomes available at the rate of a million dollars a year for ten years.

The allotments as approved are as follows: Alaska, $46,345; Arizona, $58,604; Arkansas, 9,803; California, $140,988; Colorado, $62,575; Idaho, $108,730; Montana, $70,042; Nevada, $19,296; New Mexico, $42,495; Oregon, $128,11; South Dakota, $8,092; Utah, $41,167; Washington, $91,944; Wyoming, $40,684. A total of $9,995 has been allotted to Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, and Oklahoma.

The group of Eastern States, Georgia, Maine, New Hampshire, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia in which the Government is purchasing lands for National Forests, receive $21,120.

In making allotments, it is explained, ten per cent of the amount available for 1918 is withheld as a contingent fund. One-half of the remainder has been appropriated among the states in amounts based on the area of the National Forest lands in each state, while the other half has been allotted on a basis of the estimated value of the timber and forage resources which the Forests contain.

IMMENSE CROWDS AT THE AUDITORIUM

"Eyes of the World" Proving to be Wonderful Film Production

One topic leads all others in entertainment circles in Los Angeles—"The Eyes of the World." Clune's magnificent motion picture version, with stage and musical embellishments, of Harold Bell Wright's famous story of Southern California establishing new high water marks for attendance at Clune's Auditorium.

Immense audiences have been held fast in the thrall of what some critics have pronounced the most perfectly constructed photoplay extant. "The Eyes of the World" numerous distinguishing features. Among them are wonderful types and characterizations. Another is the symbolic note running through Harold Bell Wright's scathing attack on the vicious lives of the idle rich. Still another is the exceptionally romantic story which runs through a tale crowded to the brim with big moments, suspense and thrills leading up to a terrific climax.

"The Eyes of the World" is full of material for exciting photodrama. The escape of the convict, the kidnapping of the heroine, the horsemanship of the forest rangers and the fight of the rival lovers on the cliff are but a few of many dramatic episodes. Underneath all there is a wholesome moral appeal both to the intellect and the emotions.

Of equal interest with the drama is the beautiful stage scene preceding the play, which has been pronounced the most gorgeous thing of the kind ever shown in a western theater. The music of "The Eyes of the World" is elaborate. It is played by an orchestra of 29 pieces and the big Auditorium organ. There are two performances daily. The run of "The Eyes of the World" is to be limited.

PHONE OR BRING IN NEWS

Practically every reader of the News knows some item of news that would be of interest to the rest of our readers. A visitor an accident, a birth, a wedding, a social gathering—something that would make an interesting news local. We will greatly appreciate it if all of our friends will remember to phone or bring in news items that come to their attention. It is the only way a newspaper has to learn the news, and the more news we get from each reader, the more interesting will the paper be to all. Do not be bashful and imagine that the news you know is not important. We want it and will thank you if you will be thoughtful enough to bring or phone it in. Phone Black 42.

PASADENA AROUSED OVER TREE PROBLEM

Removal Order Brings Storms of Protests Upon Heads of Commissioners

Whatever germ it is that inoculates city officials with the determination to remove trees seems to have struck Sierra Madre at the same time it was getting in its work in Pasadena and Ontario.

Last week the Pasadena city commissioners ordered the removal of all trees from public streets between curb lines. Some of those trees have been jealously guarded for years, just as the Sierra Madre trees have been. Most of them were regarded much as pets of their particular neighborhoods. The commissioners were at once besieged with remonstrances from individuals and associations who regarded the action as a direct assault upon the city beautiful idea. And the commissioners simply came back with the same argument advanced by the Sierra Madre officials—that they did not care to be held responsible for accidents due to the obstructing trees.

Over in Ontario the trouble started over the proposal to remove all pepper trees from the city. Citrus growers regarded them as scale breeders and a detriment to the city. The storm is still raging. It may be just one way of advertising the city—just as the beach towns annually advertise themselves by starting a fight over bathing suit regulation.

TO REACH SIERRA MADRE

Pacific Electric Station, 6th and Main, Los Angeles. The

By Trolley—Take Sierra Madre cars leaving hourly at scenic ride is the most beautiful on the Pacific Electric system. From Pasadena, take Lamanda Park car, change at El Camino.

By Auto—From Los Angeles by way of North Broadway and Huntington Drive to Colorado St., Santa Anita Ave. to Foothill Blvd. Turn north at Sierra Madre or Baldwin Ave. Or, take any route through Pasadena, then east on Colorado St., to Santa Anita Ave., then by Foothill Blvd., and Sierra Madre or Baldwin Ave.

Sierra Madre's peculiar charm has been felt and praised by nearly everyone who ever visited and lived here. Many factors combine to make the charm potent—the sense of exaltation in life on the heights; the inspiring view; the invigorating air, kept pure by the currents moving continually up and down the slope; the feeling of intimacy with the nearby mountains; the ease with which a love for outdoor life and recreation is gratified; the great variety of available homesites; the conveniences of the city with all the joys of life in the country.

It is as a home community that Sierra Madre claims pre-eminence. Here you can have a small house and lot, a larger place with fruit and garden plot, or a few acres with an orchard. Everything grows well here and Sierra Madre has suffered less from frost than any other community.

No community has a higher type of citizenship. Socially and morally Sierra Madre ranks high. There is a cosmopolitan population recruited from all over the world.

Sierra Madre has made rapid progress in the movement for civic beauty, with clean streets and beautiful homes and gardens. Public health is guarded scrupulously. The Board of Trade and city administration are constantly at work upon enterprises which promote the community welfare.

Official Newspaper of the City of Sierra MadreEDITORIAL CHAT*PLANT MORE TREES OR LEAVE WHAT WE HAVE

Before the removal of trees from the public roadways is completed the News would urge the city trustees to action to prevent the number of trees in Sierra Madre being diminished thereby.

Everybody who ever urged removal of trees, prefaced it by saying "I love trees as much as anyone, and would hate to see them go." The discussion preceeding the recent order for removal was no exception.

Now that the trees have been ordered out, it is time to determine whether that was sincerely said, or simply pretense. The trustees can prove they meant it if they will only plant at least as many trees on public property as they removed. No funds? It will not cost as much as the removal process.

When the removal of the trees was discussed in past years the News always opposed it. Since then the number of autos in use has been greatly multiplied, and the danger has increased likewise. Wherefor, the News does not feel disposed to oppose the removal of the trees now, provided at least as many more are planted.

That this is the view of the majority of the residents of Sierra Madre cannot be doubted. There is a general feeling that there are not enough street trees. If the trustees do not wish the removal of the trees to be held up against them they can avoid by doing a little judicious planting.

IN GOOD OLD SAN FRANCISCO

Here is an interesting bit from the San Francisco Daily Call:

"It is a well known fact, talked of in every bar-room in this city today, and leered over more or less in every smoking compartment on every Pullman car from Maine to California and from Vancouver to New Orleans, that any girl of 15 can go into any of half a dozen well known 'loose' cafes here in San Francisco, and get anything she wants to drink, or anything any one who takes her there wants her to drink—just so long as there is money enough to pay for it.

"It is a well known fact that any high school boy can get whatever he wants to drink at almost any bar and in many liquor selling restaurants in San Francisco; and he can get it at nearly any hour of the day or night—though the law on the statute books specifies quite plainly that no liquor is to be sold to minors anywhere, and that all saloons and restaurants must close at 2 o'clock in the morning."

It is the vote of San Francisco where such things are tolerated that has controlled California legislation on the liquor question. Is it any wonder the rest of the state is in an increasingly rebellious frame of mind? Some of these days California will be provoked into legislation which will make it the driest of the dry states.

A RAINY DAY MYSTERY

Do you like puzzle pictures? Then perhaps you are familiar with this type, though here's hoping you will not recognize your own picture—unless it really happens to be here. We refer to the individual who—is the newest on the job but is best able to tell the bystanders how it is done.
has time to loaf every day—and waits till Saturday to get his seldom haircuts and then kicks because the barber shop is not open Sundays.
has the least learning—therefore is most positive that an education is unnecessary.
goes to church least—but rants hardest about what he imagines the preachers say.
pay the least taxes—and kick most about high tax rates.
get the least mail—and wail loudest about infrequent mail service.

DIVIDING CALIFORNIA

Now and then there is hue and cry that California should be severed at the Tehachapi, and that the southern portion should assume a separate statehood.

Various reasons are given; usually it is political. Some of the Los Angelesans who are forever imagining that their city is about all of Southern California want more government money for their harborette; many disgruntled and defeated near-statesmen believe separation would give opportunity to cash in on their political aspirations; many argue that the populations of the two sections are not congenial in aspiration or in environment.

But outside of Los Angeles there has never been enthusiasm for two states. Rural Southern California has no taste for domination by provincial Los Angeles. The smaller cities and the rural communities believe that California, just as she is, is the greatest state in the national galaxy, and that the expense of dual government would necessarily deprive us of many of the comforts the old state is giving us.

Please let us alone. We don't want to be the hand-maiden of political intrigue nor the fall guy for political ambition. We'll soon have the votes down here to run the whole shebang, anyway, providing the big city will help us run things in the interest of the general good rather than in furtherance of the doubtful schemes of Los Angeles.

— Hemet News.

SHALL WE ACT?

In 1862, the coastal plain which is now known as Southern California was made a great inland lake by a storm that lasted for days. Old settlers, living here and there in the canyons and on the plains, still speak of it with awe.

In 1884, the inland valleys were again an expanse of water. Men who had built up comfortable fortunes in livestock raising, lost everything they had. Some lost their lives.

The High Record

In 1889, all previous floods were surpassed in the terrible devastation that came sweeping down from every canyon of the Sierra Madres. Families were marooned for days. On the lonely expanses of the plains men and women disappeared that were never heard of again. These were pioneer days, and dangers and violent deaths were common. But the enormous walls of wild water that emerged from the canyons are described by many who still remember with a vividness that fear impressed upon their memory. That flood was the greatest by far that white man, Spanish or American, could recall.

But there were not 2,000 people all told on the plains outside of the pueblo Los Angeles in 1862. There was a very thin population of cattle and sheep ranchers on those plains in 1884 and in 1889.

What would happen—what is liable to happen in this Los Angeles county of today of over a million souls, of 37 populous cities and towns, if a flood of the size of 1889 should sweep down from the mountains?

It May Happen Again

In the report of the board of engineers, made to the board of supervisors on July 27, 1915, there are numerous interviews with old residents, who say that twice as much water flooded the valley in 1889 as in 1884. But the property loss was comparatively small when compared with the loss just recently, in 1914, although seventy per cent more water fell in 1889 than in 1914. This brings us to face this serious question—if a flood as great as the one in 1889 again occurs (and the history of the country proves that it is quite possible) what will be the loss of life, as well as the loss of property?

The valleys have changed since the days when the old pioneers guarded their cattle on the plains. Every acre of the Southland is worth more than any acre in any part of the world where agriculture is a pursuit. The most valuable orchard lands in the world are here. And in a few days of such exceptional floods as have been experienced in the past, they may be wiped out, and the county would under these circumstances go back gradually to such a condition as now exists in Palestine, once a wonderful country like this one, now a eroded, boulder-strewn ruin, with the silt of the country long since washed into the seas.

What This Project Means

Wild water can be controlled—can be checked, hindered, retarded in its flow from the mountains; it can be confined in definite channels. It can be made to percolate into the ground where it can be drawn up later for irrigation. It can be impounded in reservoirs.

And these are the things contemplated in a proposed bond issue, which will expend $4,500,000 to safeguard life and property in Los Angeles County. You owe it to yourself and to your children and children's children to vote in favor of the bonds.

"TARA GWIN" THE NATIONAL NON-ALCOHOLIC WINE

Is the only unfermented wine that meets the demand of the physical economy for a true stimulant. The large percentage of carbohydrate present in TARA GWIN is regulated to meet the demand of the myocardium and to re-establish and maintain the level of the sugar content of the blood. The nutritive and reconstructive effect coupled with its true stimulating property and action upon the overtaxed and impaired heart-musculature make this unfermented wine the standard national table drink and stimulant for social functions, and of the greatest possible benefit to both the young and aged.

TARA GWIN is prepared from the chemically pure extracts of the grape and other fruits. It is a concentrated brain and nerve food and tissue builder; it enriches the blood, regulates the circulation and is the best known preventive against tuberculosis, imparting great resisting power against this and other diseases. Tara Gwin is free from ingredients of a harmful or injurious nature, and may be safely taken by children of tender years, by the delicate student; it is particularly valuable to delicate young people and also to nursing mothers.

Tara Gwin is not a medicine, but a family non-alcoholic wine for the table and general use. Tara Gwin is recommended and prescribed by many leading physicians in the place of the false stimulants.

Tara Gwin may be ordered through your grocer or druggist, or directly from the NATIONAL NON-ALCOHOLIC WINES, LTD., Mt. Tara Springs, Sierra Madre, California.
